Getting Ready for cf.Objective()

Posted At : May 6, 2009 7:26 AM | Posted By : Bob Silverberg
Related Categories: Personal, cfObjective

I've been rehearsing my presentations for cf.Objective(), "The Only Enterprise ColdFusion Conference", for the past couple of weeks, getting ready to jump on a plane one week from today. I'll be arriving fairly early on Wednesday, so I plan on doing some shopping and possibly some sightseeing, and then sitting down to a nice dinner prior to the Opening Night Reception. So if anyone reading this will be in Minneapolis late Wednesday afternoon and would like to join me for a decent (i.e., high quality and not necessarily inexpensive) meal, leave me a comment, or email me directly.

I'm also keen to hear any recommendations from anyone familiar with Minneapolis on good places to shop/sightsee/eat.

I'll be using Twitter between now and the end of the conference, after which I imagine I'll be giving it up for good. If you like you can follow me (I tend to be pretty quiet)@elegant_chaos. I hope to see lots of you there!