

My Interview on WebDevRadio

Posted At : June 17, 2010 10:49 AM | Posted By : Bob Silverberg

Related Categories: Podcasts, ColdFusion, TDD

I had the honour and pleasure of being interviewed by Michael Kimsal for his WebDevRadio podcast a few weeks ago. The episode was published last week and is now available for listening and/or downloading from the podcast website, as well as via iTunes.

For those of you that don't know Michael, you're missing out. I met him at NCDevCon and found him to be an extremely pleasant, funny and smart individual. I enjoyed my chats with him at the conference, and really enjoyed discussing all sorts of topics with him for the podcast, including, but not limited to, how I came to develop using ColdFusion, contributing to open source projects, test-driven development and unit testing in general, and object-relational mapping (ORM) in ColdFusion. I also really appreciated the opportunity to have my voice heard outside of the ColdFusion community.